

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a method for producing a paste including an inorganic powder in which a paste including an inorganic powder is dispersed by a disperser having rollers provided in a cylindrical vessel. The present invention can provide a paste including an inorganic powder containing small amounts of foreign substances and having excellent dispersibility by a treatment for a short time.